When to Repot

Repot your orchid when it has been in the same compost for two years or when it has outgrown its current pot. Always use fresh orchid compost and reuse your old pot if the pot will fit. Snip off any dead roots with sterile scissors – these will be brown hollow in appearance.

Hint & tips

Orchids like to keep their feet dry. Always water your plants early in the day to allow for water to dry before cooler night time temperatures. Use cotton swabs to remove excess water that gets stuck in the little nooks of your plant.

Basic orchid care

1. Keep your orchid in the semi shade area
2. Maintain proper air circulation
3. Watering your media whenever they are dry
4. Spray your orchid plants when your plant is dry
5. Media should hold proper moisture; it should be porous and airy but not soggy.
